Visual identification of existing underground lines

Afraid of cutting a volatile or energized line when you need to excavate? Hydro-Excavation is the answer. Don't take a chance on damaging lines and cables or injuring personnel. With DeBusk Services Group's crews and equipment, you are assured of a safe and effective method for exposing underground utilities that would otherwise be too dangerous with mechanical equipment. Eliminate the delays that could occur if there is damage during a digging project.

System Requirements

High-powered and highly efficiency equipment, along with trained personnel can make the toughest excavating projects easy and safe, even in the most difficult terrain.

By using high pressure water in conjunction with a vacuum system, a clean cut can be made. At the same time, the vacuum removes all of the loosened debris and liquids.
